Bling Bling

At Charlotte, every woman is an artist. That's because customers create their own designs with the shop's interchangeable line of fine jewelry.

You start with a base, such as a ring band or necklace chain, and then buy gemstones and decorative pieces that pop in and out of the base. A gemstone can star as the centerpiece of a sterling silver ring one day and become a decoration on a shiny tiara the next.

"There are so many ways you can create your own jewelry," says owner Sarah J. Worden. "Your mood and your outfits change. Why not change your jewelry?"

A family-owned, German-based company, Charlotte has only three locations in the U.S. It specializes in natural stones and authentic metals, such as gold, sterling silver and stainless steel.

Located at 7615 W. Farmington Blvd. Call 901-754-0111 or visit charlotte.de.

WHAT'S HOT NOW:

Owner Sarah J. Worden suggests combining sterling silver hand-painted enamel flowers with ring bands, necklace chains or earring backs for a whimsical summer look.

Eat Your Greens

A graduate of Le Cordon Bleu in Paris, Memphian Jennifer Chandler has plenty of training in creating complicated, gourmet meals. But as a mother of two, she rarely has the time.

That's why she created "Simply Salads," a full-color cookbook of easy-to-prepare salad recipes, from balsamic strawberry salad to tangy Memphis mustard cole slaw. Most of her dishes can be made in less than 15 minutes.

"Bagged greens have changed how we eat salad," says Chandler. "There are so many blends that it is easy to create a restaurant-quality salad at home."

"Simply Salads" is available at bookstores nationwide. Visit cookwithjennifer.com. —B. P.
